NEWPORT DAILY NEWS,

Published every Morning-Sundays excepted, by
GEORGE T. HAMMOND,
Editor and Proprietor.

At 141 Thames St., corner of Union:

TUESDAY MORNING, Sept. 5, 1858.

In the last, representatives of Philadelphia in the legislature, for the last ten years, have consisted of men who cannot spell the most ordinary word of four letters (it is evident of the members in the last legislature could not write the name of either bazaar, the two companies of ballot-box stuffers and common blathers, of lawyers without practice, of young fellows too lazy to learn or work at an honorable trade, and live, nobody knows how).

It is certain that the city of Philadelphia and its chosen legislature are not grossly misrepresented in the above remarks, by one of the public journals of that city? As the imputations thus put forth, true? If they are founded in fact, the city is deeply disgraced by the act of its own electors.— We write this, without any knowledge of the political sentiments of the representatives alluded to, or any part of them; and we do say that the intelligence and integrity of the city should make it a point to wipe out the reproach in the most emphatic manner at the next election, whatever may become of parties or party organizations.

But the evil above noted is not confined to Philadelphia. It exists, to more or less extent, in all our large cities—and persons, to be quite candid, we ought to confess, in the smaller ones also.—In New York, especially, the mischief is one of great and formidable magnitude—so glaring and hideous, as to have long attracted the attention of the whole country. In numbers and modes, and all the pedlars properly qualify to legislators, the N. Y. city delegation to the last legislature might serve as example—to be carefully studied and imitated by all other legislatures. And the members of Congress, from the same quarters, at least a few of them, are very bad—borders, if Mr. Seward, D. Dixie, and some other scoundrels, of their own and other parties, are to be believed,—to say nothing of their support of the marauding and cowardly Leopoldine English Knavery.

No wonder the illustrious Jefferson made the declaration that "great cities are great sows on the holly politic." They are indeed "sows" that require constant and expensive lactation, and often prove very troublesome, after all.

A SHARK.—We saw, yesterday afternoon, at the fish market of Messrs. Peter J. Lee & Co., Scott's Wharf, a shark, 8 feet long, and weighing 150 pounds. On being opened a dog-fish, over two feet long, and six or eight "small fry" were found in its anterior stomach. His sharkish was caught yesterday, with a hook, by Mr. George Dwinnell, Jr., of this city, off Seal Rock ledge. We did not count his teeth, some of which were an inch long, and looked as though they might do damage to a man's body. The hook with which he was caught, was a common tautog hook, and he was secured by tying him out. Taken altogether, he was an ugly looking customer.

STRANGE FISH.—Messrs. Peter J. Lee & Co. secured quite a curiosity yesterday, which was on exhibition at their fish market, on Scott's Wharf. This was a Drift Fish, weighing about 6 pounds. The fish resembles very much in shape and color the gold fish kept in jars, in some places, is a most beautiful fish, was caught outside Breton's reef, by Mr. Luke Bliven, of this city, with a hook, and is of a species very seldom caught in these waters.

ROBBERY OF A GROCERY STORE.—The store of Mr. Julius Sayer, 207 Thames st., of this city, was entered Saturday night, and robbed of goods to the amount of about one hundred dollars, consisting of flour, sugar, raisins, cigars, &c. Mr. Sayer is of the opinion that the thief or thieves secured themselves in the store during the evening, and committed the robbery after the store was closed for the night. Their exit was from the back door, which is fastened with a bolt on the inside. About five dollars in change in the drawer was untouched by the robbers. It was lucky for the rascals that they escaped the trap for burglars, which Mr. Sayer always keeps set after closing his store for the night, as otherwise they might have made business for the doctors.

BOTT STOLEN.—A small row-boat was stolen from the boat store of Mr. Nicholas R. Alger, No. 43 Long Wharf, in this city, last Saturday night, for description of which see Mr. A's advertisement in another column. The boat is supposed to have been stolen by some oyster in the harbor. Mr. Alger is a worthy man and industrious mechanic, and we hope the rascal or rascals will be caught and meet the punishment they richly deserve.

GUN CATCH OF MEXHADEN.—A large barrel of mescal was made in our liquor store, and sent off to Mexico, recently, in a state of preservation, was recently discovered in North Troy, on Sept. 4, in a cellar. The wood had apparently been taken up, so that no place where it could have been secreted was known.

The wife of Mr. John Baxter, of Henniker, Mass., after having received from her too exacting and tyrannical husband a sum of money, to the week, left his bed and board, stating that she should "never return." The husband, it is said, inclines to the opinion that he shall "never take her up."

A piece of black web silk, nearly 1 yard, in a poor state of preservation, was recently discovered in North Troy, on Sept. 4, in a cellar. The wood had apparently been taken up, so that no place where it could have been secreted was known.

LOCAL NEWS.

THE LICENSE LAW.—Reference has been made in a number of instances, by letter writers from Newport, in the New York papers, to the license law, requiring persons opening stores in this city for a less time than one year, to take out licenses. To those unacquainted with the circumstances, this may appear unnecessarily stringent and even oppressive. But to residents of Newport, who understand why this ordinance was passed, it is different.

There is, perhaps, no other place in New England situated as is Newport in regard to trade. The three months from the first of June to the first of September, are the busiest months of the year—the time when our shop-keepers expect to realize a lucrative trade, equal, perhaps, to that of the other nine months of the year. This is understood by persons at road, who purchase a stock of goods in New York, Boston or Philadelphia, bring them here, dispose of them during the few weeks constituting "the season," and carry the avails hereof away with them, to return again the next season to repeat the operation. They pay no taxes and leave no money, except the few dollars comprising the cost of their maintenance while here.

The British frigate Agamemnon, has suffered some damage by fire.

The American ship Mayflower, from New Orleans for Nantes, was capsized and became a total wreck—admirable. Fifteen lives were lost. The captain and seven survivors were picked up by the American ship China.

A dreadful collision took place on the Oxford, Worcester, and Worcester-Railroad, between two excursion trains, by which several passengers were killed, and a great many slightly wounded.

Satisfactory accounts of the harvest are being received, though the rains have caused some delay in gathering it.

The Emperor of Russia was expected to arrive at Warsaw on the 14th September. Thirty-five thousand troops were concentrated in the city, and would be reviewed by the Czar in person. The Grand Dukes Nicholas and Michael go to the Caucasus to take part in the military operations.

M. Thourou, the French Ambassador at Constantine, has sent a note to the portuguese government to his friend of Prince D'Albuquerque, who demands of the Turkish government to give up to him the harbor of Spizzen, on the Adriatic, which he claims.

Yellow Fever in Charleston.

The Boston Ledger prints an extract from a private letter received from Charlesston, South Carolina, in reference to the progress of yellow fever in that city. It is written under date of August 28th:

About three or four weeks ago, the yellow fever commenced its operations here among the poorer classes, but in a short time it spread to the mansions of the attorney, sweeping all before it to the tomb, until all parts of the city have become infected with the disease. Business is almost entirely "dried up," and several streets are roped in, and guarded by police, so as not to allow any stranger to pass through them. The only people you will meet here in the streets now are doctors, Sisters of Charity, negroes and policemen. The only evidence of life you will see, is the mass of pills and plasters hurrying rapidly to his patient's residence; the Sister of Mercy, with her mild and melancholy look, hurrying on to some persons, to snuff their last moments in this world, and conduct them in their journey to the grave; the big, double-jointed, double-faced Ethiopia, with his horse and cart, driving carelessly along to the residence of the poor, where he seizes the poor infant, thrusts it into his cart, and when he has it full, drives off leisurely to Porter's Field, and there disposes his cargo of human flesh; the big African policeman, trudging along day and night through the streets, telling you if you attempt to enter a house or a store where the fever is, that some one is dead in there, and "don't go in," but at the same time give me a drap of whiskey; I am afraid the fever has taken hold on me." Such are the scenes that you now meet in Charleston, and if your heart is so full as to escape the epidemic this season, be sure to take a fire spot that he will make trees before another summer to come.

Yellow fever is not the principal article of commerce in this country.
